

Making education and emotional support available to children in isolated communities

Schools in isolated communities

Our Foundation feels that is important to assure education to children of isolated communities. Many of our schools are built in underdeveloped areas in the world. This means making the school the center for life of many villages and poor suburban areas. But this is a way to give a meaning to the future of many poor children that live in such cultural isolation where a school can become a real opportunity for life.

Photo: Children from village schools in the Republic of Central Africa.

Photo: Children from village schools in the Republic of Central Africa.

Photo: Danilo and Luca Fossati School, Mataral (Andes), Bolivia

Building schools in areas hit by natural disasters

Schools make the point for the rebirth of areas that are stroke by natural disasters: wars, tsunami, ethnical discrimination and persecution. The Foundation has helped in building schools where destroyed.

In newly built schools children can find educational continuity and food and health support. This has happened for Darfur (Sudan), Tsunami disaster, and during draught and famine in some countries.

Photo: Darfur, Nyala (Sudan).

School projects built or completed

Brazil: 1 Nursery School in San Paolo; Brazil (Porto Alegre): 1 professional school; Brazil (Uberaba): 1 daily professional school for young people; Brazil (Uberaba): 2 nursery schools; Brazil (Campinas) 1 professional school; Ecuador: 1 nursery school; Ethiopia (Edaselassie): 1 elementary school; Philippines: 1 family house for minors with problems; Philippines (Legzapi): 1 family house for handicapped children; India (Chennai): 1 community house for young people; Kenya (Nairobi): Danilo and Luca Fossati Training Centre; Kenya (Isiolo): 1 elementary school; Mozambique (Chemba): 1 hostel and few classrooms; Democratic Republic of Central Africa: 7 village schools; Sudan (Wau) 1 centre for young people of war zone Darfur; Thailand (Ban Konthip): 1 family house for abandoned girls; Thailand (Mae Suay): 1 hostel for children.

Photo: Danilo and Luca Fossati Training Center, San Paulo, Brazil.

Photo: School of Bibwa, Democratic Republic of Congo

COUNTRIES: Brazil, Ecuador, Ethiopia, Philippines, India, Italy, Kenya, Mozambique, Democratic Republic of Central Africa, Sudan, Thailand, Bolivia, Argentina, Democratic Republic of Congo, Sri Lanka.

Photo: School in Philippines